SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday, February 8, is the date for the run-off primary between Lt. George Andrews and J. Hubert Farmer for Congressman from the third district. Friends of Lt. Andrews are carrying on a vigorous campaign in every county in the district and are predicting a landslide vote for the Bullock County man at the polls.

Andrews lacked less than 600 votes having a majority in the first primary, and efforts are being made to swell the vote in every precinct. Andrews, now in service with the Navy in the Pacific Area, has made a fine record as Solicitor in his circuit and resigned his position to enter the service of his country. He is young, energetic, courageous and has the ability for a good congressman.

Go to the polls next Tuesday and help send Andrews to Congress. Get all of your neighbors to go with you and vote for him. Although he could not be here to campaign, your support of his candidacy will be appreciated, and he will repay you in honest and efficient service.

DR. WEIDNER ATTENDS CANCER CONTROL MEET

Dr. G. L. Weidner, Coffee and Geneva Diet and Health Officer, attended the meeting of the Women's Field Army For Cancer Control, in Birmingham this week. This was a convention for the instruction of lay leaders in order that the public may be educated to realize that cancer may be cured in its early stages. The discussion includes cancer of the breast and colon.

Dr. Weidner plans a campaign for his district upon his return. He will visit in Memphis, Tenn., while on his trip.

The many friends of Tax Collector A. J. Morrow will regret to hear that he remains seriously sick at his home here, and trust that he may soon be improved.

LT. HENRY DORSEY WRITES FROM ITALY

Claude Dorsey recently received a very interesting letter from Lt. Henry A. Dorsey, who is in the same battery with other Elba boys, now on the battle front in Italy. With permission we are reproducing the letter here:

Monday, Dec. 20th, On the Front:

I want to thank you for the camp kit that you sent me. It was about the most complete that I have seen. I am trying to write by candle light and it is very poor. As you would naturally expect, we are not allowed to have lights at night unless you are able to conceal them so that none gets out of your tent, which is quite a job.

I have been in the fight here in Italy for sometime and I am about to get enough of it. The weather has been bad ever since we moved to the front, the mud is shoe-top deep everywhere and raining some about every day. One good thing about the bad weather is that we are not worried so much with Jerry's planes (as the Germans are referred to) bothering us and of course our planes can't do them much damage either. When the weather is clear as it has been up until this afternoon, and it is really raining now, the planes are very active and you sure do have to be on the lookout or they will catch you unaware and away from your foxhole, every position that we occupy means digging yourself in, which is quite a job making a hole large enough to sleep in and to offer ample protection from flying fragments and strafing from aircraft.

Sometimes you get in them when the mud and water is over your shoes but you make no hesitation, in fact, you can't get there fast enough and it gives you a feeling of satisfaction to have one when the hot steel is flying, however, they give us all hell some of the time. I have seen a lot of the (Continued on page two)

BAPTIST B. W. C. GIVES BANQUET

In celebration of the circle's seventh anniversary, the B. W. C. of the Baptist Church, W. M. S. enjoyed a banquet at the Baracca House Monday evening.

A low bowl of red and white japonicas was a central decoration for the table. Attractive valentines were used for place cards. Miss Gladys Clark, circle president, spoke briefly of the accomplishments of the circle since its organization in 1937.

During and following the delicious meal a snappy and interesting program was directed by Mrs. T. B. Bryan and Mrs. J. W. Kendrick. Each one present contributed her part to buy a $25 war bond to apply on the church building fund.

Those present were: Mrs. O. M. Fox, Mrs. Gladys Dorsey, Mrs. T. B. Bryan, Mrs. L. Martin, Mrs. Mary Alice Mayes, Mrs. J. W. Kendrick, Miss Mabel Brunson, Miss Gladys Clark and Miss Elzie Sellers.

Spices should be kept away from the kitchen stove and kept in closed cans to keep their spiciness.

To the People of this Community

KILL OR BE KILLED
United States Marines paid the stiffest price in human life per square yard for the capture of Tarawa, vital Pacific outpost. It was kill or be killed. Your boys did it.

4th WAR LOAN
We bought Extra War Bonds. This assault, bloody and costly, is one of the many which must be made before Tokyo and Berlin are pounded into dust and ashes.

What are you doing to back up the boys? Remember these are boys from this very community, perhaps from your very home, any home in your neighborhood which today does not display the Treasury's red, white and blue 4th War Loan shield proclaiming: "We bought Extra War Bonds" is not backing the attack. You buy becomes a direct fighter against Japan and Germany. If you could but see one man die on the battlefield, you would not count the cost of your slight sacrifice to buy Extra War Bonds to make each succeeding assault less costly in the lives of our boys.

You can't afford NOT to buy Extra Bonds in the 4th War Loan if you would help these boys. THE EDITOR.

JESUS FEEDS THE MULTITUDES

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:35-44; 6:1-6
GOLDEN TEXT—I am the bread of life; and that which I shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst.—John 6:35

Hungry! That word describes the crying need of the greater part of the world's population. Men who have wanted themselves because of their ability and ingenuity have brought the nations of the earth into such awful confusion that even God's abundant provision cannot reach the needy ones.

God is concerned about man's physical need just as truly as He is about spiritual needs. This story brings Christianity into action on a level that all will appreciate—the need of food for the body. It works there as it does everywhere.

The supply of every need of man is God. "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). Countless Christians have found it to be true that we may trust God—completely—and for everything.

The stories of the feeding of the two groups of people show the wrong and the right attitude toward man's need. In two approaches to the problem the disciples were wrong. Then Christ showed them the right way.

I. They Can Take Care of Their Own Need (6:35, 36)

"Send them away"—that was the plan of the disciples when the multitude of those who had followed Him became hungry. The people were there because they were interested in Christ. They had come in a hurry (v. 35) and had not brought food. The problem was on the disciples' hands, and they sought the easiest way out. Let them shift for themselves—"Send them away."

The church has followed their example in dealing with the social problems of the people down through the years. The result is that being denied fellowship, comfort, and help by a church which was too busy building up a vast organization or a beautiful order of worship, the common people have responded to the appeal of political leaders who have provided a substitute for what the church should have given them.

When Jesus put upon them the direct responsibility to feed the people, the disciples changed their "slogan" and said:

II. We Should Like to Help, but We Cannot (6:37)

Reckoning hastily on what a small boy had brought for his lunch (trust an alert boy to be ready!), the disciples soon demonstrated that it was impossible to feed this great throng. (See similar reasoning in Mark 8:4.)

Logic is such a devastating thing when it operates apart from faith in God. They were absolutely right in their reasoning and in their calculation, but they had forgotten the one factor that really counted. Jesus was there, and Jesus is God, and God is omnipotent.

As we face the need of the world now and after the war, we wonder how the peoples of other lands can be fed without depriving our own land of what it needs. It is a great problem, and we ought to pray for those who must work with it.

But let us not forget that God, who has come from God, and that He is able to do "exceeding abundantly above all that we ask or think" (Eph. 3:20). The Christ who multiplied the loaves and fishes is our living Lord today, and ready and able to do it again.

III. Jesus Said, "I Have Compassion on the Multitude" (6:36-44; 6:1-6)

He started right. Instead of shutting His heart against the tender desire to help, He let His love for the people control. Then instead of magnifying the difficulties, He multiplied the provisions. And to spare was enough for all, and to spare. "He commanded," and they did all that He said (v. 39, 42). When God speaks, all the limitations of the finite disappear, and the needs of men are fully met—with "twelve baskets full of fragments" left over.

Note the orderly manner in which our Lord met this situation. Five thousand men, with women and children to swell the throng, were seated on the grass. Jesus took the loaves and fishes and blessed them. You who forget to return thanks at the table, notice that quiet and meaningful act. Then He broke the loaves and divided the fishes. No doubt they were multiplied as the disciples passed them out to the people.

God is able to do that very thing even in our day. Perhaps not in just the same manner, but surely those who serve Him have marvelled as they have seen that "little is much when God is in it." Let those who labor in difficult places with limited resources take heart—and trust God.

Note the care with which the fragments were collected for future use. It took this time to teach America how shamefully wasteful it has been.

LT. HENRY DORSEY WRITES FROM ITALY

Continued from page one) world since I left the States, a lot that I can tell you about. I have been out of the States in most of the countries in North Africa and saw a great assortment of interesting things. One of the things that interests you about Africa is that the cities are so old and historical. Once while I was in Tunisia I visited the city of Tunis, which we read a lot about during the battle of North Africa. It is a large city and very picturesque, and lies on the southern shores of the Mediterranean Sea. A few miles out from Tunis is the very old city of Carthage which is spoken of in the Bible. The ruins of the city are all that remain, along with the arenas where they used to persecute the Christians by throwing them to the lions. The city is on the Mediterranean and very beautiful, overlooking the sea. The customs of the people in Africa are so different from us, it is dominated by French and Arabs mostly. Arabs work in the fields and live in the most crude shacks, you would be surprised to see what they live in and yet exist, it is beyond me. I visited Bizerte in Tunisia a few times. It was once a very large city with a population of 200,000 or more, and now it is in ruins and is truly a ghost town. If I have ever seen one in the true sense of the word. You can hardly visualize a city of that size now to be a business house left that wasn't destroyed beyond use, block after block nothing but ruins and hells left standing. I have realized to some extent how destructive wars can be and how unnecessary they are. People by tens of thousands, homes destroyed and life savings gone with the wind. I don't see how anyone could have the courage to rebuild where the destruction has been so complete. You see salvage dumps everywhere with captured war machines of every kind and airplanes in huge piles. I could go on indefinitely about what I have seen—a lot of interesting things in Italy that I am unable to tell about now, but I hope to be able to tell you about personally in the near future.

I see Kimmie about every day. He and I are both getting along fine and hope we can continue to work together. I could say within six months or even a year as to when I will be back home again. This week, everything is going, but there is no way of knowing when it will be over. We are giving the Germans as much discomfort and harassment as we can and from what we can understand, we are making good progress. They are dug in in the mountains and very hard to get to.

Since I have been abroad I have realized that beyond all take stock as to what they have done. I have seen the suffering and destruction it has caused. It is a thing that has to be because I couldn't tell you how bad it is if I would write for a week.

Should we have any chronic grippers at home, tell them to take stock as to what they have and the fact that they have a home and three meals a day and divide what they have in dollars and cents by ten thousand and still have more than these people have. They are on starvation, I thank God that the people at home are going through with what this country is.

We have been lucky, we get plenty to eat and wear over here, and the weather isn't as bad as you would expect so far. If we are provided for in the future as we have been in the past we can stand it for quite a spell, however, we all want to go home very bad. It has been only four months since we left the States but it seems much longer. We have a newspaper that is printed over here for the "Armed Forces" that we get the news from and it keeps us posted as to the situation, although we are on the front and we never know anything very definite except a lot of rumors. I have heard from several sources that the war will be over here by Xmas but it doesn't look hardly possible to me, that would be the most appreciated. Xmas present I hope ever expect to get or hope for.

Take care of my family for me until I can get home, we can't be with all of you Xmas in person but we can be there 100 per cent in spirit and thought, so keep the home fires burning. Give everyone regards for Kimmie and me and let us hear from all of you, because the more word from home the better. The one thing that we all look forward to is mail from home. Our letters home might be a lot of the time but no news is good news.

Love to all, Henry.

KINSTON H. E. GIRLS STUDY FIRST AID

The Kinston Home Economics I girls study first aid as a part of their work in the war time school program. The group has familiarized themselves with the need and use of first aid. Special emphasis is placed on the types of wounds, dressings and bandages, shock, poisons, artificial respiration, injuries due to heat and cold, unconsciousness, snake bites, nose bleeding, foreign bodies in the eye and first aid kits. A first aid kit is being made in the vocational building and several of the group have made plans to make one in their homes.

The girls are members of the Coffee County Junior Red Cross and are volunteering their services by helping to make articles for the boys in the armed services hospitals.

INSURE THEIR WAY OF LIFE !

THIS IS OUR MISSION—THEY ARE OUR CAUSE—The final week of the Fourth War Loan is "Schools at War Week." It is a week which will see the school children of America go out to buy and sell thousands upon thousands of dollars in United States War Bonds. The nation asks their mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers and the folks next door to give them every encouragement. Not just because they are the life in the block but because this horrible Second Great World War is being fought to insure their future and see that the blight of death that has ravaged the young of Europe does not fall on them. This is our mission . . . they are our cause.

Last Week Of War Drive Dedicated To Youngsters

Schools At War Is Slogan As State Pushes To Get Over The Top

This is the last week of the Fourth War Loan Drive in Alabama. Many counties still have failed to sell their share of victory.

During this fourth week of the state's great all-out effort to "Plant a Colors On Every Fighting Man" by buying $18,000,000 in war bonds, the school children of the state will make a special effort to put the state over the top.

This fourth week will be "Schools at War Week." The first week of the drive was dedicated to the Army. The second week was dedicated to the Navy. The third week was dedicated to the Marines. These are the men who are in the field fighting Alabama's fight.

Fitly, says State War Finance Chairman Ed Leigh McMillan of Brewton, the final week should be dedicated to the children of Alabama and America.

"It is for them and their future that we fight this war. That we buy these bonds."

"All of us know of the blight of death that has ravaged the young of Europe and Asia."

"SCHOOLS AT WAR" TO BE OBSERVED IN COFFEE

The "Schools At War Treasure Hunt" will be observed by Coffee schools on next Tuesday, Feb. 15, according to Supt. A. C. Dunaway, who states that complete instructions have been mailed to every school principal in the county.

All schools will be dismissed at noon on next Tuesday and pupils will spend the afternoon in selling war bonds and converting stamp albums into war bonds. All teachers and pupils are expected to take part in activities.

A card from Mrs. Charles R. Bonneau states that she is now in Hopkinsville, Ky., where Captain Bonneau has an assignment.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lee were visitors to St. Petersburg, Fla., last week. They were accompanied by Mrs. Roscoe Deal and little daughter, who will spend several weeks in the Florida city where Mr. Deal is in training for merchant marine service.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Crook and family visited in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Crook Sunday.

NUMBER 55

FARMERS URGED TO BUY BONDS BEFORE FEBRUARY 15TH

By Hugh D. Sexton, County Agent

At this writing "we are approximately $68,000.00 short of our "E" Bond quota of $246,000.00. A good portion of this $68,000 is included in our Farm Quota. We must not fail to meet our quota.

The following poem, "What Did You Do Today?" was written by Lt. Dean Shatlain, Tank Commander while on the battlefield of Africa. Lt. Shatlain amputated his own foot with a tank and thought he was dying as he wrote the poem. He was rescued by Americans after two hours of hiding and is now recuperating in a hospital in England.

Every soldier has the right to know what we are doing about selling and buying bonds. Won't you please read Lt. Shatlain's poem and then get out and help reach our "E" Bond Quota by February 15?

"What Did You Do Today?" What did you do today, my friend, from morning till night? How many times did you complain that rationing is too tight? When are you going to start to do all of the things you say? A soldier would like to know, my friend, what did you do today?

We met the enemy today and took the town by storm. Happy reading it will make for you tomorrow morn. You'll read with satisfaction the brief communique, we fought, but are you fighting? What did you do today? My gunner died in my arms today; I feel his warm blood yet; your neighbor's boy gave out a scream I'll never forget. On my right a tank was hit, a flash and then a fire, the stench of burning flesh still rises from the pyre.

What did you do today, my friend, to help us with the task? Did you work harder and longer for less, or is that too much to ask? What right have I to ask you this, you probably will say; maybe now you'll understand, you see . . . I died today.

Sgt. and Mrs. Leroy Bowdon announce the birth of a son on January 31 at Station Hospital, Camp Rucker, whom they have named Fredrick Leroy.

Lt. and Mrs. Joe L. Crook, of Ft. Benning, Ga., were guests of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Crook, over the week end.

you this, you probably will say; maybe now you'll understand, you see . . . I died today.

We Have Installed A New Feed Mill

This new mill is large enough to take care of your feed crushing promptly. We also have installed a large motor and have plenty of power.

Bring us your feed and we can crush it while you wait. You will not have to leave it and come back another day. Our mill is in operation six days every week and we are now in position to give you quick service.
